STILLWATER MESSENGER

STILLWATER:

Tuesday, - - July 11, 1865.

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphans, do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."—LAST WORDS OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S SECOND INAUGURAL.

The Fourth of July in Stillwater

The great feature of the Fourth of July, 1865, in Stillwater, was the Picnic celebration, which was held in a beautiful grove, about a mile from the city. The early morning gave indications of an unfavorable day, but finally proved beautiful. There was no procession formed, but the people poured in from all directions, and by 11 o'clock a large concourse had assembled.

The exercises at the stand were opened with music from the band; then followed brief introductory remarks by Hon. John McKusick, of the Day; Prayer by Rev. Mr. Howell; Reading of the Declaration by Capt. A. J. Van Vorhes; concluding with the Oration by Wm. M. McCluer, Esq. These exercises, however, were agreeably interspersed with excellent music by the Stillwater Band.

All of these features deserve more than a passing notice. The Declaration of Independence—an instrument which has never been so fully appreciated by our people in its full significance till now—was read by Capt. Van Vorhes with an earnestness worthy of the subject of the day.

The oration by Mr. McCluer, was a masterly effort, clear concise, forcible and eloquent. We should like very much to hear it repeated under more favorable circumstances, and with less disagreeable surroundings. We do not feel like censuring the boys for shooting fire crackers and keeping up an infernal hellabola generally, during the delivering of the oration, for wan't it the gaudious fourth, and all that sort of thing, and that's a way the boys have of celebrating. As a further extenuation we believe it is a generally admitted fact that nearly all of us—that is of the male persuasion—were mostly boys at some period of our lives.

The festivities of the day closed with a display of fireworks, from the ferry boat which was made fast near the shore. It was rather an unfavorable time for fireworks, a driving rain setting in during the evening, but as the committee having the matter in charge, had advertised that there would be no postponement on account of weather, the show went on.

On the whole the day passed off agreeably, and every body was satisfied. It was remarkably quiet on our streets, not a single street fight or row occurring during the day. A horse attached to a buggy passing up Main street, became frightened at the explosion of fire crackers, and precipitated himself over the railing near Wixson's Store, fortunately, however, injuring no one but himself.

Execution of the Assassins.

Lewis Payne, David E. Harrod, Mary E. Surratt and Geo. A. Atzerod were hung on the 7th inst., in accordance with the finding and sentence of the Military Commission which was approved by President Johnson. This will be gratifying intelligence to loyal people everywhere. Secession sympathizers and copperheads will howl, of course, as they invariably do when their friends come to grief. Dr. Mudd, Samuel Arnold and O'Loughlin are to be imprisoned for life.

The Educational Convention.

There was a large and interesting gathering of School Superintendents, Examiners and Teachers, at Winona, commencing on the 29th of June. We find in the Winona Daily a full report of the proceedings, which we have perused with much interest.

A considerable delegation went down from this city and county, who were highly gratified with their visit, and are loud in their praise of the cordial greeting and general hospitality extended to them by the people of Winona. We give elsewhere a communication from a prominent citizen of this county, who like the rest of the party, was delighted with his trip and his stay in the city, but complains of an unpleasant circumstance or misunderstanding attending his return.

A woman in St. Louis killed her husband because he pulled her hair. It is sometimes difficult for a husband to tell when hair he is pulling, when he clutches them.

The Educational Meeting at Winona.

LAKELAND, June 30, 1865.

Editor Messenger:

Remembering a hint about local matters, I think I will tell you and your readers a few things about Winona and the examination and convention held at the close of the late term of the Normal school held at that place. I might state that I was in attendance not in any official capacity, but availing myself of the general invitation extended to all friends of education, I was present. I feel some pride in recording the fact that our county was represented more fully than any other county in the state. The following persons from our county having been present, viz: P. E. Walker of Marine; Ex-Gov. Holcombe from Mr. A. B. Stickney and Mr. W. L. Butts from Mr. C. S. Gutschell of Afton.

I think all the delegations will concur in the opinion that the Normal school is a success—that the model school kept in connection therewith is a good thing, if not a "big thing." That Winona is a model city, and that its people are worthy of the place.

We were met by a hearty, cordial hospitality which made us feel we were welcome.

Not that we had a general invitation to seek quarters wherever we could, a vague tender of universal hospitality or any thing of that sort; but we were invited by a committee with the name and place of those who would not consider it a hardship but a pleasure to entertain us with lodgings and board.

I am myself pleased with Prof. Phelps and his corps of efficient teachers, and feel sure that if the people through the legislature and others will extend them the encouragement and support which they deserve, our Normal school will soon be felt throughout the length and breadth of our young state.

I don't propose to give any detailed statement of the exercises upon this occasion, as I have no doubt you will be furnished these by Mr. Stickney and perhaps others. Suffice to say, I think we all left Winona well pleased with the school and well pleased with the people. One thing further I must say before closing. We had been assured before going, and this assurance had been repeatedly announced at Winona that all persons in attendance at the convention should be returned by the line of conveyance by which they had gone, one-third the usual fare. With only this condition, that we must have the certificate of Prof. Phelps, showing that the bearer had been in attendance at the school convention.

Providing ourselves with the certificate myself and another gentleman of this county went aboard the Key City, belonging to the Prairie du Chien line, by which line we had gone down and paid full fare. You can imagine our surprise when we were coolly informed by the officers of that boat that they knew nothing of any such arrangement.

This to be sure was only a small master-piece of a slight misunderstanding, and was easily settled by our handing over six and three quarters dollars in greenbacks instead of two and one quarter.

Long may these old rickety steamers wave to shave the people of the Upper Mississippi out of their money. And I hereby pledge myself to patronize them when I can help it.

Yours &c.

M. Y. JACKSON.

New York's Mich Mem.

Wm. B. Astor is sixty-five years old; worth fifty millions; a round-faced, pleasant, quiet mannered gentleman on the cloudy side of sixty; owns two thousand dwellings, and is a lenient landlord. A. T. Stewart is sixty, thin, nervous, dignified; worth thirty millions, and liberal in cases of benevolence which appeal to his sympathies. Commodore Vanderbilt is white-haired, red checked, seventy, worth forty millions; drives a fast horse, keeps a fast boat, controls two fast railroads, companies with fast men, and gives away his money very lavishly. August Belmont—twenty millions—fine, slim, fifty and very German. George Odyke—five millions—fifty but looks younger; an agreeable gentleman. James Gordon Bennett—five millions—seventy-three years old, dignified in manner, broad-accents, benevolent to the poor.

The money-order offices are to be increased immediately in number from two hundred and eighty to four hundred and twenty—the increase being principally in the western states.

Queen Victoria completed her forty-sixth year on the 24th ultimo, and her birthday was celebrated as usual by a dinner given by all the ministers and public functionaries. The queen has never lost one of her numerous children.

It is a somewhat singular circumstance that the owner of the sheep upon which the first battle of the war (Bull Run) was fought, is also owner of the house at Appomattox Courthouse in which the armistice was signed.

Return of the Eleventh Regiment.

Editor Messenger:

The Eleventh Regiment arrived at St. Paul on Wednesday last. They were received with a splendid ovation by the St. Paul people. The streets were decorated with flags and devices, cannon fired, bells rung, welcoming speeches made by the Mayor and Governor, and a grand dinner given up for the returning veterans. We have not room, of course, for an account of the whole affair as we find it in the St. Paul papers, but we copy from the Press, the following little episode connected with the dinner at the Capitol:

AN EPISODE.

One of the boys who had been detailed as guard while the regiment was entering the Capitol, and who, by some oversight, was not relieved, obeyed orders strictly, as a good soldier always will, and stood at his post until the dinner was over. He was then observed by some of the officers and ordered to report up stairs. The ladies, hearing of his ill-fate, took him under their especial charge. He was seated at the officer's table and was surrounded by fifteen or twenty fair damsels, all anxious to do something to make up for the neglect.

Wreaths of evergreens and leaves were showered upon him in profusion. He was certainly the hero of the day, and from his pleasant looks, he was evidently pleased with his luck, feeling, no doubt, well paid for the mortification which he otherwise might have felt in being required to take the leavings.

We give below a brief history of the regiment, since its organization, copied also from the Press:

HISTORY OF THE REGIMENT.

In July, 1864, Gov. Miller received a commission from Washington to recruit a new regiment for one year's service.

He immediately went to work, and in about six weeks the Eleventh Regiment had obtained its maximum number, was mustered into service and ordered to the front.

GRASSHOPPERS.—On Thursday last the grasshoppers made their appearance in this place in a million battalions of a million in each battalion, taking every body and everything by surprise—especially the gardens. From ten o'clock in the forenoon, until two or three in the afternoon, the air overhead seemed to be, and was perfectly filled with the pests, apparently on their way to New York State perhaps, or some other eastern locality. The main body, or greatest number, was anything but flattering, and the men sprang to arms as a subject for the highest commendation. The excitement which caused thousands to enter the army when the war first broke out, had subsided, and men who entered the ranks then, did so after mature reflection, knowing exactly what was before them.

On the 22d day of September, 1864, this regiment, numbering 1011 men, marched from Fort Snelling through our streets to the lower levee, where they embarked on steamers for the South.

They had received no specific orders, and did not know at the time they left, to what point they were destined. Upon their arrival in Chicago they were kept there three days, when they received orders to proceed to St. Louis. When they arrived at Milwaukee, their orders were countermanded, and they were ordered to Chicago. When they received orders to go to Nashville. They arrived at Nashville on the morning of the 3d of October, and were ordered to do guard duty on the Chattanooga Railroad. They remained as guard for this road until the evening of the 10th of October, when in consequence of an attack by guerrillas on the Louisville and Nashville road at South Tunnel, they were sent to guard that road. Here the regiment was divided and stationed by companies along the railroad from Louisville to Gallatin, with headquarters at Gallatin, Tennessee.

On the 12th of March last, a party of 18 men were acting as guard to a squad of woodchoppers on Bloodsaw's Creek, when two of their number, Robert Bailey, of Cottage Grove, and George S. Hatch, of Monticello, became separated from the rest, when they were surrounded by guerrillas and murdered. These were the only persons who were killed during the whole time the regiment was in service. They killed many guerrillas during their service, and their names are last mentioned to the band of rebels that infected that section.

They had received no specific orders, and did not know at the time they left, to what point they were destined. Upon their arrival in Chicago they were kept there three days, when they received orders to proceed to St. Louis. When they arrived at Milwaukee, their orders were countermanded, and they were ordered to Chicago. When they received orders to go to Nashville. They arrived at Nashville on the morning of the 3d of October, and were ordered to do guard duty on the Chattanooga Railroad. They remained as guard for this road until the evening of the 10th of October, when in consequence of an attack by guerrillas on the Louisville and Nashville road at South Tunnel, they were sent to guard that road. Here the regiment was divided and stationed by companies along the railroad from Louisville to Gallatin, with headquarters at Gallatin, Tennessee.

On the 12th of March last, a party of

One of the boys who had been detailed as guard while the regiment was entering the Capitol, and who, by some oversight, was not relieved, obeyed orders strictly, as a good soldier always will, and stood at his post until the dinner was over. He was then observed by some of the officers and ordered to report up stairs. The ladies, hearing of his ill-fate, took him under their especial charge.

Local and Miscellaneous News.

A Compliment to Stillwater.

A short time since, a large number of the citizens of Prescott—a little town located at the lower end of that lake, which our readers have undoubtedly heard of as being noted for—being at the end of this lake—availed themselves of the kind offer of Capt. GRAY of the steamer G. H. Gray, to carry them, free of charge, up to Taylor Falls and back. As a matter of course, that was a big thing for Prescott, and the people went aboard en masse. We once had a little personal difficulty with Capt. GRAY, and were disposed to cherish animosity, but we forgive him now, and consider him sufficiently punished.

It is said to have been a big thing, and our readers will have no occasion to doubt it when they learn that L. A. (Lager) TAYLOR was one of the party. His friends managed to keep him sober, enough on the trip up to notice things on the way, and after his return home he wrote an article for his paper (which is printed in Madison) entitled "Things seen on the Way." It may be proper to remind that Capt. GRAY on reaching this place, fell himself justified in refusing to carry them any farther, and "dumped" them on our landing. A few of our influential citizens becoming aware of the circumstance, raised a small contribution, and made arrangements with the accommodating Captain of the Enterprise to take them up to Taylor Falls, or land them at any of the intermediate points. And after all our kindness, would you believe it, the reader, that same LUTHER TAYLOR went home and wrote of our "young and growing city," as follows:

"We suppose it [Stillwater] is called by that name because the people do not disturb water very much. It is regarded there merely as a medium for floating logs and lumber. The business of the place is log, lumber, and lager. In the spelling books used in the schools there, L. D. stands for Lager, Logs, Drives. There are so many sawyers here, that the principal hotel is called the Sawyer House in their honor."

PROMOTED.—En. A. FOLSOM of this city, has got another lift, this time a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Eighth regiment. Hurry "up," En., we would like to see you a full Colonel before your regiment is mustered out.

BAD DISEASE.—A resident physician informs us that the disease known as the pipsy-pins, a complaint peculiar to the western country, in the summer season, has broken out in our city. A sudden depression of the colicis index, a caving in of the spinosity or back-bone, and a feeling of stiffness in the immediate vicinity of the cæsareum canthus, may be regarded as proper indications that the complaint is coming on. The following prescription will afford instant relief:

"Spiritus Vini Ostiardi, z. i.; Spiritus Vini Jamaica, 2. Saa.; Sugrum Whium, d. i.; Icibus Fins, d. i.; Siccum Pineapple, i.; Strawberry, i.; Shalak; Violent; Siccule Dulectum cum Strawm."

We notice a large number of persons are endeavoring to "keep off" the disease by a vigorous use of the above prescription.

CURRENT WINE.—We are under obligations to Mrs. DR. RIVAS for a bottle of most delicious wine, made from the juice of the common currant, which is almost, if not quite equal in richness and flavor to that which is brought, at a great cost, from the celebrated vintages of sunny France. We wonder our people do not give more attention to the manufacture of these home-made wines, which are infinitely preferable to the vile concoctions labeled "Pure Wine," which are sold at five times the cost, at which a pure wine can be manufactured.

"BLOWN UP WITH HIS OWN PETARD."—A little accident occurred to one of our citizens Saturday last, a well known and popular druggist of this city—for which, as far as heard from, no blame attaches to any one—unless it be himself. Mr. J. R. CARLIS of the City Drug Store, who is engaged pretty extensively in the manufacture of Pop, Soda Water, and "sick like," was "running" one of his machines which have by virtue of their internal paraphernalia several if not more, explosive qualities, and, forgetting for the nonce, the peculiar attributes attached to an internal machine, he thoughtlessly opened a valve to take a look at the internal arrangement, when he received a charge the face and eyes which laid him sprawling on the floor. It is due to the hero of this narrative to remark that he retired in good order, satisfied of the truth of the old and quaint saying, that "one can sometimes see as well if he stands in the back-ground."

Lake RISING.—On account of the heavy rains in this vicinity and above here, the lake has been steadily rising for the past two weeks. There is, at this present writing, a reasonable stage of water for all practical purposes.

A GOOD HALF-HOUR'S WORK.—On last Independence day, which occurred this year mostly on the fourth of July, a poor crippled soldier was seen on our streets, to all appearance "a stranger in a strange land." He was the most pitiable object we ever set eyes upon, having been blown by a shell at the second battle of Bull Run—his right arm and leg blown off, and a portion of his face carried away. He moved slowly and painfully along the street, with the aid of a crutch and finally seated himself on a box in front of Mr. SCOUTS's store. A number of sympathizing persons gathered around him, and soon learned the dreadful story of the suffering he had endured for his country's sake. He was a member of the 69th New York regiment, and was in both the Bull Run battles, at the second of which he was blown up by a shell and left for dead on the field. He was finally picked up and taken to the Douglas Hospital in Washington, where he lay for nearly a year, enduring the most untold and horrible suffering, through the long and weary months of convalescence. When able to move he started to find his parents who reside in Black River Falls, Wis. and became acquainted with the country he came to this place, instead of leaving the boat at Hudson as he should have done. Upon inquiring, it was ascertained that in addition to all his misfortunes, he was in straitened circumstances, financially. Ten or fifteen dollars, he said, would probably take him through to Black River Falls. A person standing near, remarked "Here's one dollar of it," the next man to him went into his right-hand vest pocket on the same key, a third man remarked "Here's," and in less time than it takes to write this, the requisite sum was raised. Not satisfied with this, a few persons interested them selves still further in his behalf, and in less than thirty minutes over fifty dollars in bank-bills were safely stowed in the poor fellow's pocket. "God loves the cheerful giver," it is said, and we ever saw money cheerfully given it was then. Ah, it thrilled our heart with grateful and unspeakable emotions, and inspired us with a deeper reverence for humanity, and a clearer appreciation of that is good and true in our usture; to see even little boys, who, a moment before, had been celebrating the day with jubilant shout and explosion and hurrah, suddenly cease their mirth and noise, come up with tearful eyes, and quietly contribute their little mite for the benefit of the poor stricken soldier.

Arrangements were also made with Capt. GRAY to give him a free passage to Hudson, and if he found people as generous on the route as at this place, he could certainly have no cause to complain. He will, undoubtedly, remember our citizens readers that as far as the eastern United States has no equal.

O'Brien's many friends in this city will be pleased to know that he has lately been promoted to a captaincy in the regular army.

STILLWATER MESSENGER

STILLWATER:

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphans, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."—LAST WORDS OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S SECOND INAUGURAL.

The Spirit of the Southern People.

From a late number of Brownlow's Whig and Rebel Ventilator we copy a sketch of the sufferings which a Union man endured for his opinion, at the hands of the devilish rebels, and the heroism and fortitude he manifested throughout his long period of incarceration in rebel dungeons.

The subject of the sketch—Capt. S. T. Harris—joined the Union army at the opening of the war, was promoted to a Captain shortly after, while on a raid through that vicinity, under Gen. Carter, young Harris was captured through the treachery of a rebel who pretended to be a Union man. He was taken to Knoxville and thrown into a dungeon heavily ironed.

Before leaving home Capt. Harris had been enrolled in the rebel army. That is, the rebel enrolling officer wrote his name on his book, being personally acquainted with Harris. But the rebels themselves freely admitted that his enrollment was illegal, because of the mode in which it was made.

Notwithstanding, young Harris was court-martialed and sentenced to be shot on the 13th of February, 1863.

The Parson, his usual tender style, speaks of the Judge Advocate of that court-martial as a "third-rate county court lawyer, whose name will be forever infamous in the history of the war in East Tennessee. We refer," says the smooth-tongued Parson, "to that white-livered, black-hearted poltroon, and perfidious villain, William Calhoun Kain." Rather personal, that.

Brownlow concludes the sketch as follows:

Captain Harris was kept in the Knoxville jail seven months. From this place he was taken to Columbia, S. C., and imprisoned nineteen months. In all, he was imprisoned twenty-six months. For twenty-six months Captain Harris was in irons, a great part of the time in a dungeon—so far as time allowed to communicate with any one.

Captain Harris would have been executed, but the Federal authorities held a Tennessee "blood" as hostage for him. He was exchanged on the 1st of March, and for some time walked on the streets of his feet being having worn shackles.

During the whole time Captain Harris was in prison, he was defiant, denouncing the Confederacy and pleading the cause of the Union when taunted by rebel officers and citizens. For a youth, his heroism is sublime. And his boundless ferocity he was persecuted, and his hanging demanded by W. C. Kain, John E. Toole, W. D. Fain, and other citizens of East Tennessee. If Captain Harris should meet any of these men he would be execused.

While in prison, in Knoxville, he broke his fetters, weighing from fifteen to twenty pounds, and got out of jail, and was pursued and recaptured by soldiers and citizens. Eleven guns were fired at him within fifteen steps. Prominent in the pursuit of young Harris was an old citizen of this place—Wm. Beard. When Harris was captured, Beard cursed him and called on the guard to kill him. There was no personal difficulty between them—it was the spirit of the rebellion.

On Saturday evening last Harris returned to this city. On Monday he met this same Wm. Beard and beat him severely with a club, breaking it, is said, two or three ribs.

The loyal people of East Tennessee will be glad to hear that Harris is justable and would have been had he used a pistol or a dagger. Men possessed of the spirit of those who pursued this gallant young soldier should not be permitted to live in a loyal community. They are a dangerous element.

We mention these facts that our thousands of subscribers in the Free States may learn the character of a large element with whom the loyal men of East Tennessee have to contend.

Fire in New York.

A great fire broke out in Barnum's Museum about noon of the 13th inst., totally destroying the immense building with all its contents. What the loss, pecuniarily, may be to Barnum we are not informed, but the destruction of the vast and varied collection of wonderful curiosities of nature and art with which the building was stored, is an irreparable loss, and might almost be termed a national loss.

A number of buildings adjacent were also burned, and the whole loss is estimated at one million dollars.

Gold closed

The Second Regiment.

This noble regiment of veterans has just returned. They met with the most flattering testimonials of regard all along the route as they returned, and at St. Paul a grand reception was given up for them by the citizens. There were but a few from this immediate vicinity in the regiment.

At its formation—in the summer of 1861—the regiment mustered 1,020 men. Since that time 726 recruits have been added to it, making a total of 1,806 men. Its present roster shows now about 700 men, leaving over 1,100 as the total loss by the casualties of war.

On the call for re-enlistment, 290 of their number responded, and came home on veteran furloughs.

They have passed through many hard fought battles, and terrible marches over mountains, and through almost impassable swamps, and have invariably sustained their own, and their country's honor, amid all the trying scenes through which they have been called to pass.

The State has every reason to be proud of the old Second. We can not give even a sketch of its glorious history, but as a specimen of the style of life they led, we give below a brief record of their closing campaign, written by one of the members:

From May 7, 1864—when the first campaign opened—to October 3 (150 days) we marched 43 and laid over 107 days, including 43 at Marietta and 25 at Atlanta and marched 261 miles.

Second campaign, after Hood, from October 3 to November 19 (42 days) in which we had laid over 20, and marched 290 miles.

Third campaign, from November 20, 1865, (68 days) marched 30, laid over 35, including a week in and near Savannah, and went 386 miles.

Fourth campaign—from January 19 to April 9, inclusive, 80 days, marched 42 and laid over 35, including a month at Sister's Ferry, and 17 days at Goldsboro, and went 467 miles.

And lastly, the fifth campaign, from April 10 to May 7, (28 days) marched 18 and laid over 10, and went 253 miles.

So in the whole year of 365 days, from Ringgold, Ga., to Richmond, Va., we marched 1,53 days, laid over 213, and went 1,657 miles, besides drill, camp guard and picket duties.

Street Loafers.

A late number of the Chicago Tribune has the following spirited picture of the coarse and insidious conduct of the "street loafers" of that city, which is to a great extent applicable to a class which frequent our streets on a pleasant day or evening. It will be necessary, however, to make the description apply to our loafers to omit the "well-dressed":

THE STREET LOAFERS OF CHICAGO.—This interesting "gulf" is made up of well-dressed, able-bodied, halfidle men, who pass their leisure hours in staring from street corners into the faces of well-dressed females, to see whether or not they are respectable. If they see, or imagine they see, in dress, face, manner, the slightest indication that the result will not be physically resisted, the invariable result is stare ends with an impudent and unkind, and thus the most coarse and modest lady in the city will be terrified, and her eyes fixed with a horror, her form draped in sepulchral gloom, and her eyes fixed on every other, block by a pantalooned loafer, who has not "address" enough to support a decent girl, vigor enough to support a family or bring enough to keep books for a penniless stand.

If every gentleman of Chicago, whose wife is under seventy-five years of age, and not uglier than six, will constitute himself a committee of one, to see that the poor, and it is necessary that the plans, specifications and ground should be secured this fall. No tax levied, nor outlay of money in any form for the support of public schools, remains an equivalent so soon, and so valuable to a community, as this. It gives character to our city; it attracts population; it is a blessing to the poor, and it is hoped that the citizens generally will appreciate more efficient and permanent public schools, and provide convenient and substantial school edifices in suitable localities, to accommodate the entire limits of the city.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT, OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THE CITY OF STILLWATER, UNDER THE ACT APPROVED MARCH 28th, 1863.

To the Board of Education:

The public schools of the city closed on the 23d day of June, 1865, being the close of the school year, having been kept 94 months. The last term of the present year, as compared with the last term of last year, shows an increase of 53 in the whole number enrolled, being an addition of 22 per cent—the whole number enrolled now being 299, and the average attendance for the year 83 per cent. The winter term, closing with March, showed the whole number enrolled for that term to be 365. An assistant teacher was necessary in that term in the 1st Intermediate department, and the general increase of the number of pupils in all the departments have been, such that a sixth school, is now necessary. In our teachers' meetings, which have usually been held on Friday of each week, after the schools were closed, the teachers generally being all present, at the school room of the 2d Intermediate department, the subject of revising our school grades has been thoroughly considered, and have reported them so revised as to be adapted to an additional school, providing for two Primary schools of the same grade, one of which for the convenience of the younger children, should be on or near the school grounds.

Superintendent.—Three brothers at Gordon made Potter have purchased in Michigan 2,000 sheep which are now en route for Blue Earth. Judge Finchale had last week for the Union country to purchase 600 for his flock near Montezuma, Minn.

Commissioner.—We learn that the Grasshoppers are destroying everything in the western country, even to the wild grass on the prairies. They are making their way north-east, and have got as far east as the Indian reserve, which is about thirty-six miles west of us. When the wind blows they fly, and when they stop to feed—Watson Republican.

Vineyard.—A German came to this city about a year ago, and bought two acres of land in the First Ward, and this Spring commenced laying out the grounds for a Vineyard. He has laid out a large amount of labor upon the premises, and it now makes a beautiful appearance, and by another year it bids fair to be the best Vineyard in Southern Indiana.

The Hastings Consul of Toledo says: "Even a stranger who has strolled on Sunday we learn that the storm of Friday night broke up a raft in Lake Pepin and that the pilot and six men were missing, supposed to be drowned. We have not heard any further particulars or seen any account of the affair. They were running through without being towed, and were below Lake City when the affair happened."

Cairo.—We continue to hear nothing but the most encouraging reports concerning the condition of the crops. The late rains and the cool cloudy weather, lasting until about a week ago, were especially favorable for small grain. One farmer told us that he had a fine field of oats raised right. The cool weather did not seem to effect corn sufficiently, and since the warm days and nights the rapidity of its growth has been most astonishing. The happy expression on the faces of our farmers would cure the worst case of "blues" on record.—St. Cloud Democrat, 132d.

The Potato Bug.—This disgusting as well as destructive insect is making and having among the potato vines in this vicinity不堪.

We learn that during the celebration of the Earth at Rochester, a man who was engaged in firing a cannon, at that place had both arms blown off, and was forever terribly mangled by the premature discharge or explosion of the gun. His recovery is considered doubtful.

—The telegraph line now being erected to pass through River Falls, and an office is to be opened there.—Hudson Star & Times.

—J. S. Elwell, well known here, through his connection with the Hudson Star, has become a partner in the La Crosse Daily Republican. Mr. Elwell is an excellent editor. He holds a racy and vigorous pen, and has good tact and judgment in the management of a paper.

La Crosse has secured the services of a live man, and we trust he will find the enterprise remunerative, and he and Seymour "wax fat" together.—Ibid.

—Respectfully submitted,

W. HOLCOMBE,
Superintendent.

Cotton in Alabama.

One of the Herald's correspondents has been through Northern Alabama states that region is almost one continuous field of cotton. The planters have given their attention to the business again this year as much as before the rebellion, and the growing crop looks fine. The negroes are working for their former masters for wages, and the new labor system appears to progress very well.

—A number of families in Jersey City have formed an Anti-Meat Club, whereby they pledge themselves to totally abstain from meats of all kinds for two weeks, hoping thereby to bring down the present exorbitant prices of meat.

The Lake is still falling.

STATE ITEMS.

General Sherman Declines to be Governor or President.

RICHMOND WHIG SUPPRESSED.

New York, July 14.

The Herald's Washington special says: Ex-Judge Marvis was to-day appointed provisional governor of Florida, and will repair to that State early next week.

Contrary to the expectations of nearly all familiar with his past career, Mr. Comard, editor and publisher of the Richmond Dispatch, has been dismissed by the President.

Geo. A. Bond, editor of the Cleveland Herald, was to-day commissioned postmaster of that city, vice the present incumbent, the editor of the Lander.

The Times Washington special has the following: The story that Mrs. Surratt's spiritual adviser, Mr. S. C. Gay, late one of the publishers of this paper, was suddenly dismissed from his position as editor of the Times is untrue.

The Government has sent an officer to Andersonville, Georgia, to make special investigation into the brutal and inhuman treatment of Union prisoners by the rebels.

Up to 7 o'clock this evening no order had been received by Gen. Hartman, commander of the military prison, for the removal of the convicted prisoners, Mudd, O'Laughlin, Arnold and Spangler.

WASHINGTON, July 14.

WHEREAS, in the Richmond Whig of July 11th 1865, a certain clause of the merciful amnesty proclamation of the President of the United States, pardoning certain traitors, is stigmatized as heretical, and a law of this kind duly enacted by Congress and approved by the President, is characterized as an brutal and cowardly, revolting, and abominable proceeding.

It is ordered that the President, Marshal of this Department, seize and confisca tion, and that the Whig be suppressed.

—The Times Washington special, will meet at the store of Walker and Judd in the town of Marion, on the 2d instant, to examine and allow all claims for the above estate.

Reception of our Returning Heroes.

The citizens of Stillwater are requested to meet at the Council Rooms this (Tuesday) evening, to devise means for giving to our returning soldiers a fitting reception on their arrival at home.

Major.

Stillwater, July 18, 1865.

Crowded Out.—An advertisement, handed in by Messrs. BUTLER & DODD, is unavoidably crowded out of this issue. It will appear in our next.

The celebrated J. Ross Browne, a noted writer, artist, and humorist, who is widely known to our readers by his racy contributions to Harper's Magazine, is stopping at the International Hotel in St. Paul.

PROMOTIONS IN THE FIRST REGIMENT.—Among the promotions in the "Old First," we notice the name of Sergeant JOHN S. MAY to be First Lieutenant of Company A, and Second Lieutenant RAYMOND CORNMAN to be First Lieutenant of Company B.

THE FISK EXPEDITION.—Our young friend, FREEMAN L. MCKEESE, has taken the gold fever, and has registered his name for the expedition to Montana, gotten up by Capt. FISK. FISK is one of the Company B veterans, and knows what it is to rough it, and will most likely be able to stand it where the rest of them can. The expedition is advertised to start from St. Cloud on the first of next month. Good luck to you, FREE.

Saint Peter Advertiser.—This is the name of a new paper just started at St. Peter by T. M. PERRY & SON. In their salutatory they say "In religion we shall be christians—in politics truly democratic." Typographically, it presents a very neat appearance.

HILLAND & MADDEN'S CIRCUS.—This entertainment hardly came up to our expectations. It has a big sounding name, and—that's about all.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Our enterprising friend W. M. CAPRON, dealer in Stoves, The Ware, &c., has been making large additions to his stock, and has contributed an article about a column in length, for this number of the paper, mostly in relation to his own business. There are many items of interest in his communication. Take a look at it.

MONEY FOUND.—Found on the 7th of January last, a roll of bank bills, which the owner can have by calling upon Rev. T. MURRAY, and identifying the same.

RESISTING THE LAW.—On Saturday Sheriff DAVIS with a posse went over the lake to attack some logs lying in a raft attached to the opposite shore. The pilot having charge of the raft—Mr. HAGERTY—made some show of resistance, and talked blusteringly about having twenty-four muscular shoulder-hitters who stood ready to rush at his bidding. The master was finally compromised by inducing Mr. Pilot to come over to Stillwater, when he was immediately placed under arrest, for resisting a process of law.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.—A man bearing the startling cognomen of JOHN SWRRI, had a terrible gash cut in his head, last evening in a drinking saloon, by a desperado, who had just been drinking with him. The blow was made, in fact, with the very bullet he had just been drinking from. Persons who were near, and never at that no provocation, saw SWRRI savagely assaulted. JOHN SWRRI, who is ignorant of the reason, was not in the saloon, and excitement in the village was great. He easily escaped, and rushed at a healing rate up NELSON'S Alley, but being closely pursued by the City Marshal, he endeavored to hide under a car standing near, but was discovered by one of his pursuers, and JACK laid his hand gently on the scoundrel's collar, and he came forth. He attempted to draw a murderous looking knife from his pocket, but the Marshal was too quick for him, and seizing the weapon tossed it into an adjoining yard.

He was conveyed to the lockup, and he will have an opportunity this morning to talk the matter over with Justice LULL.

We have learned the villain's name, but we would advise him, if he has any little objections to being roughly treated, he had better make himself scarce in this particular locality; for JOHN SWRRI is supposed to be pretty extensively known, and his friends have been heard to utter threats of vengeance deep and dire.

THE AMERICAN CONFLICT.—We are still receiving subscriptions for this invaluable work, and are prepared to furnish copies of the first volume immediately. It is a work which should be in every house in the land. Call and see a murmur.

AN UNWARRANTABLE ACT.—Some of the boys—friends of the man SWRRI, who was struck with a tumbler last evening—went to the lock-up this morning, and took out the accused, by force, and, placing him astride a long plank, hoisted him on the shoulders of a number of stout fellows, and gave him a free ride down Main street. He was again taken possession of by the City Marshal and conducted to Justice LULL's office for trial.

Although we have no sympathy with the accused—who is said by those who know his past history, to be a desperate and hardened villain—yet we strongly condemn such lawless acts of violence, as entirely uncalculated for, unjustifyable, and subversive of every principle of law and order. He was in the custody of the law, and had but received a trial, and it would have been time enough for mobbing, after it should have been found that the law failed to reach him.

JEWELRY.—Mr. ILLINGWORTH has just received a fine assortment of fashionable jewelry, consisting of watches, chains, lockets, pins, rings, &c. He is selling at much lower prices than you can buy in St. Paul. His store is next door to the Stillwater bank. Give him a call.

COMING FROM THE WARS.—The bronzed faces of our returning veterans greet us at every turn. All who went from this place in the Eleventh regiment—six or eight in number—return last week.

From the Heavy Artillery we notice—Dr. J. C. Kurows—who has been Assistant Surgeon in that regiment since its formation, and is now mustered out on account of the regiment being greatly reduced in numbers. He says the boys are all extremely anxious to return home, now that "this cruel war is over."

From the Eighth—C. P. LANE who happened to be in hospital when the order was issued discharging all who were thus situated. He is, however, ahead of his regiment but a few days.

How appropriate now are the poet's words:

"I'd like to go when through the soldier comes his hour of life; when he becomes a fellow man to his fellow men. The colors are un-furled, the carbine varnished, and now he is loaded and hardy. For the gods have sent him brother, brother. His cap and belt are all gaudier. With green bows, the last plauditer of the field. The city gates lie open of themselves. They meet to touch the hand to them. With peaceful men and women that send words of love and welcome to the air. Who'd make them break a master's gesture. From the hand of a master's hand. They joyous now of a brief day.

O, happy man to be! for whom The wretched bairn, the faithful arms are open, the faithful tender arms with much embraching.

—When the First Minnesota arrived in Louisville, the Democrat of that place paid them the following merited compliment:

FIRST MINNESOTA.—Among the noble veterans who arrived yesterday morning from the Potomac army we noticed the glorious old "Minnesota First," Col. Mark W. Dowling commanding.

This regiment was the first body of troops to be mustered into the service, after the fall of President Lincoln, for seventy-five thousand troops. First in the death-decharges of Antietam and Gettysburg, they have proudly carried their victorious laurels by facing thirty-five thousand storms of battle, thus receiving a fiery baptism for each star on their torn and tattered banner.

All honor to this brave "old guard," whose deeds of daring are impossible, for hundreds of graves on the soil of the "Old Dominion," and the grandest monuments of their patriotic devotion and unsurpassed valor.

Since Sir Walter Raleigh's his improvement in the work by the composition of his "History of the World," the literature of England has never achieved the work which he left unfinished. There have been "Universities" in the world, in which the annals of each nation are separately recorded; but without an attempt to trace the story of Divine Providence and human progress in one connected narrative. It is proposed to supply this want, a work to be entitled "The Story of the World," to be published in the United States, to follow the "History of the World," but in a more comprehensive manner than the one which has been sent off for sale in the United States and MUST BE SOLD AT THE SACRIFICE! Under these circumstances, ARRANDEALE & CO. act as agents for the principal European manufacturers, have resolved upon a GREAT GIFT DISTRIBUTION, subject to the following regulations:

SONS 5cts for CENTS. The names of the various articles are first put into envelopes, sealed up and mixed; and when ordered, are taken out and sent to you, thus giving all a fair choice, and sending the certificate with the article. On receipt of the certificate, you will chance what you are to have, and then it is a question of how to send the dollar and the article, or not, to obtain a Gold Watch, Diamond Ring, or any set of Jewelry on our list, for ONE DOLLAR EACH.

AGENTS.—We want agents in every town and in every county in the country, and those acting as agents will be allowed 10 cents on every certificate amount to one dollar. Agents will collect 25 cents for one certificate, and remit 15 cents to us, either in cash or postage stamps.

WILL BE SOLD AT CHICAGO PRICES.

STILLWATER MESSENGER

STILLWATER:

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphans, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."—LAST WORDS OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S SECOND INAUGURAL.

Return of the Eighth Regiment.

This gallant regiment reached St. Paul on the steamer Keokuk on Thursday of last week. Preparations were made by the St. Paul people for their arrival early in the morning, but they did not arrive until 2 o'clock. They were met with a great outpouring of people, who were rejoiced to welcome back their brave heroes, husbands and sons. The bells clang their joyous welcome from their brazen throats, cannon belched forth their welcoming peals, and gay flags and banners waved a merry greeting to the bronzed heroes who were coming from the wars.

A plentiful repast was furnished them at the Capitol, when welcoming speeches and responses were made, after which arrangements were made so that the boys could return immediately to their homes, on a two weeks' furlough. At the expiration of that time they will report at Fort Snelling, receive their pay, and be mustered out. Which is, no doubt, the pleasant part of soldiering—being paid off and mustered out.

Stillwater and the immediate vicinity furnished one whole company for the Eighth regiment, company C, recruited by Capt. Folsom, and our people agitated the subject of getting up a reception for them. But if they did anything more than talk about it, we haven't been informed what it is.

Lieut-Col. Folsom, who has been in command of the regiment, is now acting as chief mustering officer, and was consequently detained, and is not expected home for a few weeks. The regiment on its return was in command of Brevet Brigadier-General MISON T. THOMAS.

Minnesota Fourth on their way Home.

Gov. Miller has received a dispatch from Louisville Ky., dated July 19, 1865, announcing that the Fourth Minnesota regiment had that day been mustered out and ordered to Fort Snelling.

The State Treasurer.

The St. Cloud Democrat of June 29, comes out strong for the retention in the capacity of State Treasurer of that efficient and faithful incumbent Hon. CHAS. SCHIFFER. That paper says:

"Little is said concerning the other State offices, but a strictly military ticket will probably be the rule. Should there be any exception, we hope it may be in the case of our long tried State Treasurer, Chas. Schiffer, Esq. His place could not easily be supplied."

To which we say Amen. The office could not certainly be in better hands. The position which our young State has so rapidly acquired in the financial markets of the East, as well as the par value of our State warrants, are, no doubt, in a great measure, attributable to the skill, promptness and honesty of Mr. Schiffer.

Gov. Miller.

The St. Paul Press claims to be authorized to state that Gov. Miller adheres to his previous determination, and will in no case allow his name to be presented to the State Convention for re-nomination.

Gen. Ewell Released.

The wife of the rebel Gen. Ewell having procured an order from President Johnson for the release of her husband, on condition of taking the oath of allegiance, proceeded to the place of his confinement—Fort Warren—on the 19th inst. when the General was liberated, and both left for the South next morning.

A cheap way to obtain pardon for an active participation in a wicked four years rebellion—this simply promising not to do so any more. As if, in your absence, a ruffian attacks your home in the dead hour of night, slaughters your sleeping wife and little ones in their beds, burns down the house and escapes, then when caught, if he gives his word of honor not to do it again, why—the cause of justice is satisfied.

Terrible Tragedy near La Crosse.

A Bohemian named John Rothbauer, whose mistress boarded at a low Dutch tavern five miles from La Crosse, went to the place one day last week for the purpose of having an interview with her. It seems there had been an estrangement between the two for some time, and the woman of the house refused him admittance, and attempted to drive him away with the broom. A little boy—the woman's son—aged 13, came to his mother's assistance armed with a shot gun, when he was immediately shot down by the infuriated Rothbauer, who instantly seized the shot gun and holding the muzzle within six inches of the woman's head, fired, blowing her brains out, and blowing the entire face and front part of her head to atoms. Of course, death was instantaneous.

The murderer, gathering up the weapons, fled to the swamps, but was pursued and arrested that night, and incarcerated in jail.

Another interesting feature will be the examination of the candidates for the Normal Scholarships. This perhaps requires a word of explanation. Several gentlemen of this country who attended the last examination of our State Normal School became convinced more than ever before that a Normal education is invaluable in a teacher and in order to encourage some of the teachers of this county to avail themselves of its benefits they have made up a sum of money (which is expected to be increased as soon as our friends throughout the country have made up their minds) which is to be expended entirely on two scholarships in the Normal School located at Winona, and they propose to divide this sum subject to certain conditions between those who show the best adaptation, natural ability and scholarship having taken into account, for the high and responsible duties of a teacher of youth. Public lectures and music will also be among the exercises of the Institute.

Teachers and friends of education from every part of the State and from our sister State of Wisconsin and especially the Superintendent of St. Cloud, Wisconsin, whose valuable services have twice been enjoyed, grudgingly, and the teachers under his charge, are invited to be present and participate in the exercises.

In conclusion I must be allowed to suggest that this meeting may be made one of inexcusable benefit to our county if only the trustees of every school district will attend and witness the performances. Gentlemen, you cannot fail to be both interested and instructed in opportunity to be presented to you to select your teacher for the coming winter which of itself will be worth the time and expense of your attendance. It will be such opportunity as you cannot have elsewhere. You will see the different grades of teachers in contrast and I do not doubt that the services of an uneducated, incompetent teacher are worthless.

Teachers, if you wish to meet the increasing demand for more advanced educational opportunities, professional and other facilities for professional improvement and you are one and all most cordially invited to come and partake of its benefits without money and without price. Not only are you invited but urged and entreated to come. Come with your note books and sharpen pencils prepared to reduce to writing for future reference everything of value which you may hear relating to your profession.

The time of holding the Institute will be announced in a future issue of the ALPHUS B. STICKNEY, Co. Sups. of Schools.

The county affairs of St. Croix county, Wisconsin, are evidently in a bad way. We notice by a late number of the Star & Times that the County has been sued, judgment obtained, an execution issued, and the desks, safe, &c., in the Court House have been levied upon, and would have all been sold, had not the matter been adjusted by the County Commissioners—the county of course, being largely the loser. The Star & Times says if the county was properly managed, and a sufficient county tax levied to bring orders up to par that no such disgraceful proceedings would occur. Horace, thou reasonest well!

The New York Herald announces that hereafter it will be issued every morning in the year, without any regard to holidays. It says: "There can be no rest for a lively newspaper. Hereafter, therefore, the Herald establishment will never be closed. It will always be open, ready for business, night and day, from one end of the year to the other."

The original flag which waved over the New Orleans custom house at the outbreak of the war has been found by Col. Frederick Starling of the 72d Illinois, Provost Marshal General of the Gulf Department, and forwarded to the U. S. Collector at that port, who has restored it to its old place.

A Mr. McCormick, who lives about ten miles from Newburg, N. Y., is now living at the age of 114. He was born August 6th, 1751. His hair is not grey yet.

Over one hundred and sixty millions of dollars have been disbursed by the Pay Department since the 1st of March, among the soldiers. The amount drawn from the treasury by paymasters, for more than a week past, will average about six and a half millions a day.

Teachers' Institute.

Editor Messenger: Allow me through your columns to remind the friends of common schools of our country that a Teachers' Institute will be held in this city this fall. It is designed to make this one of the most profitable and interesting educational meetings ever held in this country. Adequate accommodations will be furnished for the exercises of the Institute and for all who may attend. Among the distinguished gentlemen expected to present and assist in the exercises, are Prof. Phelps of the State Normal School, Hon. D. Blakeley State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. Martin H. Dunne of Winona, late Sup't of Public Instruction of the State of Maine, Prof. A. H. Weld of Wisconsin, Prof. B. F. Jensen of Minneapolis and others.

Mr. French was the wife of Capt. A. R. French of Co. F, 5th Minnesota, and was forty-six years of age. She had been a resident here for the past twenty three years, having come before there was any such thing as the city of St. Paul. She had three sons and a daughter, living here. Two of her sons are also in the Fifth.

She had been unwell for a year past, but the day before her death was feeling much better, and her death was wholly unexpected. She is highly esteemed by her acquaintances.

PAINTER AFTER:—On last Sabbath, Mr. H. Stone of Fort Abercrombie, engaged in business at that place, accidentally shot his father under the following circumstances: Mr. Stone was capping a loaded pistol with which to shoot a diseased horse, when the hammer accidentally slipped from his finger, discharging the lead, which entered the head of his father, at that moment passing by. At the time the messenger left the injured man was still alive, but could not recover. He had just come from the East to pay a brief visit to his son.—St. Cloud Democrat.

A CORRECTION:—The Hudson Star & Times complains that several of its exchanges have copied an item from that paper giving the census report of Prescott, and applying it to Hudson, thereby doing great injustice to the ambitious Hudsonians, who have a population of 1060, whereas Prescott only claims 1060. We gladly make the correction.

DEATH IN THE EIGHTH REGIMENT:—A member of Company F, JAMES MAJON, who had been ill for some time, died while the regiment was in Chicago on its return home. A coffin was prepared by his brother soldiers, and his body was brought as far as Hastings, where it was delivered to the deceased's father.

A London paper has the following advertisement:

It would be interesting to know whether the buttons or the trowsers never come off.

In conclusion I must be allowed to suggest that this meeting may be made one of inexcusable benefit to our county if only the trustees of every school district will attend and witness the performances. Gentlemen, you cannot fail to be both interested and instructed in opportunity to be presented to you to select your teacher for the coming winter which of itself will be worth the time and expense of your attendance. It will be such opportunity as you cannot have elsewhere. You will see the different grades of teachers in contrast and I do not doubt that the services of an uneducated, incompetent teacher are worthless.

Teachers, if you wish to meet the increasing demand for more advanced educational opportunities, professional and other facilities for professional improvement and you are one and all most cordially invited to come and partake of its benefits without money and without price. Not only are you invited but urged and entreated to come. Come with your note books and sharpen pencils prepared to reduce to writing for future reference everything of value which you may hear relating to your profession.

The time of holding the Institute will be announced in a future issue of the ALPHUS B. STICKNEY, Co. Sups. of Schools.

The county affairs of St. Croix county, Wisconsin, are evidently in a bad way. We notice by a late number of the Star & Times that the County has been sued, judgment obtained, an execution issued, and the desks, safe, &c., in the Court House have been levied upon, and would have all been sold, had not the matter been adjusted by the County Commissioners—the county of course, being largely the loser. The Star & Times says if the county was properly managed, and a sufficient county tax levied to bring orders up to par that no such disgraceful proceedings would occur. Horace, thou reasonest well!

Local and Miscellaneous News.

BLUEBERRIES have made their appearance in our market, but in small quantities, and are eagerly bought at fifteen cents a quart.

FOR SALE.—Two Sewing Machines—one a Finkle & Lyon, the other an Empire Shuttle Machine. They are new, both first class machines, and will be sold very low. Enquire at this office.

DENTIST.—Dr. J. C. NICHOLS will be in Stillwater the first of August, and remain one week. Rooms at Mr. ADERT LOWELL'S.

BAND EXCURSION.—The Stillwater Cornet Band have organized an excursion to Taylor Falls on the G. H. Gray. The boat will start from here at 11 o'clock to-morrow (Wednesday) and will return next day. They will take a collision band along, so that those who wish can join in a gay and festive dance at the Chicago House. Fare, $2.50; return ticket free.

Without doubt they will have a gay time.

LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.—Mr. Wm. L. BUTTS, of this place, has recently opened a new Meat Market, on the corner of Chestnut and Union Place, where they are not only keeping a supply of all kinds of meat which can be procured, but have also made arrangements whereby they send around a team each morning, so that customers can be supplied at their own doors, with any thing they may wish. To people residing at points remote from the business portions of the city, this is a great saving of travel, and a convenience which is duly appreciated.

A SPLendid INSTRUMENT.—The Myrtle Street Church have lately procured of Root & Cady, St. Paul, one of the celebrated MASON & HAMIL'S Cabinet Organs which is a great improvement upon the instrument formerly in use in the choir of that church. It is described by the gentleman manager of Root & Cady's branch store in St. Paul, Mr. ELY, to state that agreeably to the custom of the firm, a liberal reduction from the regular price was made to the purchasers, account of its being procured for the use of a church.

We call attention to the advertisement of MESSRS. BUTLER & DODD, Stor-age and Commission Merchants, at the Brown Warehouse. They are both sound men, and mean what they say.

VEGETABLES.—Our market is now supplied with vegetables of all kinds. New potatoes are plenty at the low price of one dollar per bushel. Green peas, string beans, onions, &c. &c., are to be had in unlimited quantities, at correspondingly low rates.

LEO BAIL.—The swindler who gave a man a clip over the head with a glass tumbler, was arrested and fined fifteen dollars and costs, rode on a rail, and all that sort of thing—an account of which we gave last week—not having any money, was placed with a crew of workmen who were making some repairs on the streets, to work out his fine. He appeared willing to do so, but shortly after seemed to take a different view of the case, for he hadn't worked more than fifteen cents of his fine before he noticed a fine opportunity for escape, which he was not slow to avail himself of. We have never looked on his face since, and never want to.

A CONVENIENCE.—MESSRS. MANTOR & GASLIN have recently opened a new Meat Market, on the corner of Chestnut and Union Place, where they are not only keeping a supply of all kinds of meat which can be procured, but have also made arrangements whereby they send around a team each morning, so that customers can be supplied at their own doors, with any thing they may wish. To people residing at points remote from the business portions of the city, this is a great saving of travel, and a convenience which is duly appreciated.

THE RETURNING SOLDIERS.—A STILLWATER BOY TAKES THE FIRST PRIZE.—We have heretofore neglected to mention the pleasing fact, that at the late close of a term of the Law School at Harvard University, a Stillwater boy bore off the first prize. His name is GODFREY SIEGFENTHALER, a youth of rare promise, 24 years of age, and a son of mine host, Mr. U. SIEGFENTHALER, of the Minnesota House. The prize was awarded for two dissertations entitled "By what means and to what extent a common carrier may limit his liability." The examining committee consisted of Chief Justice PROUD of Vermont, Judge PUTNAM of Massachusetts, and the Hon. WILLIAM BRIGHAM of Boston. We learn it is Mr. SIEGFENTHALER's intention to return to this State and commence the practice of his profession.

A MURDEROUS ASSAULT.—A party of citizens and three soldiers from the 8th regiment were returning from St. Paul to this place on last Thursday evening, and stopped at what is known as the "Six-Mile-House," kept by a German, HENRY BROCKENFIELD. After drinking some beer here and paying for it, they suggested to Henry the propriety of treating them to the cigars. He demurred somewhat, but finally agreed to furnish cigars for the soldiers, but declined to do the same for the rest of the party. Deeming this only a joke, the boys gathered around his box which he placed on the counter, and were about to help themselves, when, as soon as the soldiers had taken their cigars, he jerked the box away, and set it on the shelf.

This led to some pretty sharp words, and Henry, among other things, remarked that he didn't believe that a soldier was any better than any other man—in fact, that he was as good as any soldier. This remark excited the ire of one of the soldiers—Mr. COVER, a brother of Lieut. COVER of the same regiment—who quietly proposed to the unbelieving Teutonic that they should divest themselves of a few superfluous garments and adjourn to the street, where the moot question might be then and there and forever settled. The only response to this reasonable proposition, was two shots from a revolver, by the German, the second shot taking effect in young COVER's thigh, fortunately passing only through the fleshy part of the limb.

COVER'S wound was bound up, and he was taken to his home in Baytown. The wound is not considered dangerous, and we learn, he is rapidly recovering. BROCKENFIELD was arrested on Saturday, and is to have a hearing in Saint Paul to-day.
